OTHER ACADEMIC STANDING:

National Scientific Qualification (Abilitazione Scientifica Nazionale), Italy, 2013 – 2017, as Associate Professor in History of Political Thought – Political Science.

National Scientific Qualification (Abilitazione Scientifica Nazionale), Italy, 2013 – 2017, as Associate Professor in Political Philosophy – Philosophy.

Note: Italy has introduced a unique system of nation-wide qualification for appointing Professors and Associate Professors, the Abilitazione Scientifica Nazionale. Similar in purpose to the Habilitation in some other European countries, the process involves evaluation of research and publications by a national committee within each academic field for permanent appointment or subsequent promotion. The rate of success for applicants to the Associate Professor level (seconda fascia), for the four-year period December 2013 – December 2017, was 41% in Political Philosophy, and 36% in History of Political Thought. The Abilitazione Scientifica Nazionale confers the qualification required for a permanent academic position, but not an actual position.

- 2006 David Rjazanov Preis 2006. Institution: Berliner Verein zur Förderung der MEGA-Edition, Berlin – Germany [€ 1.000].

AREAS OF RESEARCH INTEREST:

The central purposes of my work have been: 1) to reconstruct the stages of Marx’s critique of capitalism in light of the most recent textual acquisitions of MEGA²; 2) to provide a new critical comparison between Marx and 19th and 20th century’s Marxisms; 3) to highlight the contemporary relevance of Marx for pressing current issues.

Among my other research interests there are: Socialist thought, history of the labour movement, post-Hegelian philosophy, theories of alienation, theory of democracy, and contemporary European politics - all topics on which I have published articles or I have edited anthologies and collections.

PRINCIPAL TEACHING FIELDS:

My main teaching fields have been: political thought from 16th to 20th Century, sociological theory, Marxism, political philosophy from 18th to 20th Century, history of ideas, social movements, globalization, and sociology of knowledge.

PUBLICATIONS:

Summary:

I have published extensively in a total of 24 languages (including translations). These publications comprise three monographs (two published and one forthcoming in 2017); seven edited books, originally in English or Italian (reprinted in 27 editions, with translation into eight languages); and 30 separate refereed articles and chapters that have appeared as a total of more than 130 publications (not counting short articles, book reviews, journalism and interviews).

The list of publication has been ordered by placing the English version first, followed by the translations in other languages underneath. Those writings which have not been published into English have been ordered in the language in which they appeared first.
